Johnny Chuck Finds the Best Thing in the World

- 1 Old Mother West Wind had stopped to talk with the Slender Fir Tree.
- 2 "I've just come across the Green Meadows," said Old Mother West Wind, "and there I saw the Best Thing in the World."
- 3 Striped Chipmunk was sitting under the Slender Fir Tree and he couldn't help hearing what Old Mother West Wind said. "The Best Thing in the World—now what can that be?" thought Striped Chipmunk. "Why, it must be heaps and heaps of nuts and acorns! I'll go and find it."
- 4 So Striped Chipmunk started down the Lone Little Path through the wood as fast as he could run. Pretty soon he met Peter Rabbit.
- 5 "Where are you going in such a hurry, Striped Chipmunk?" asked Peter Rabbit.
- 6 "Down in the Green Meadows to find the Best Thing in the World," replied Striped Chipmunk, and ran faster.
- 7 "The Best Thing in the World," said Peter Rabbit, "why, that must be a great pile of carrots and cabbage! I think I'll go and find it."
- 8 So Peter Rabbit started down the Lone Little Path through the wood as fast as he could go after Striped Chipmunk.
- 9 As they passed the great hollow tree Bobby Raccoon put his head out. "Where are you going in such a hurry?" asked Bobby Raccoon.
- 10 "Down in the Green Meadows to find the Best Thing in the World!" shouted Striped Chipmunk and Peter Rabbit, and both began to run faster.

- 11 "The Best Thing in the World," said Bobby Raccoon to himself, "why, that must be a whole field of sweet milky corn! I think I'll go and find it."
- 12 So Bobby Raccoon climbed down out of the great hollow tree and started down the Lone Little Path through the wood as fast as he could go after Striped Chipmunk and Peter Rabbit, for there is nothing that Bobby Raccoon likes to eat so well as sweet milky corn.
- 13 At the edge of the wood they met Jimmy Skunk.
- 14 "Where are you going in such a hurry?" asked Jimmy Skunk.
- 15 "Down in the Green Meadows to find the Best Thing in the World!" shouted Striped Chipmunk and Peter Rabbit and Bobby Raccoon. Then they all tried to run faster.
- 16 "The Best Thing in the World," said Jimmy Skunk. "Why, that must be packs and packs of beetles!" And for once in his life Jimmy Skunk began to hurry down the Lone Little Path after Striped Chipmunk and Peter Rabbit and Bobby Raccoon.
- 17 They were all running so fast that they didn't see Reddy Fox until he jumped out of the long grass and asked:
- 18 "Where are you going in such a hurry?"
- 19 "To find the Best Thing in the World!" shouted Striped Chipmunk and Peter Rabbit and Bobby Raccoon and Jimmy Skunk, and each did his best to run faster.
- 20 "The Best Thing in the World," said Reddy Fox to himself. "Why, that must be a whole pen full of tender young chickens, and I must have them."
- 21 So away went Reddy Fox as fast as he could run down the Lone Little Path after Striped Chipmunk, Peter Rabbit, Bobby Raccoon and Jimmy Skunk.
- 22 By and by they all came to the house of Johnny Chuck.
- 23 "Where are you going in such a hurry?" asked Johnny Chuck.
- 24 "To find the Best Thing in the World," shouted Striped Chipmunk and Peter Rabbit and Bobby Raccoon and Jimmy Skunk and Reddy Fox.
- 25 "The Best Thing in the World," said Johnny Chuck. "Why I don't know of anything better than my own little home and the warm sunshine and the beautiful blue sky."

by Helen Lester

- 1 Pinkerton was pink, plump, and pushy. He would do anything to be first, even if it meant bouncing off bellies, stepping on snouts,¹ or tying tails.
- 2 “Me first!” he cried when he had been last in line and finished first down the slide.
- 3 “Me first!” he cried at story time, settling on his round bottom with his big head right smack in front of the book.
- 4 And every day in the school trough-a-teria “Me first!” rang out and there was Pinkerton.

- 5 One Saturday, Pinkerton's Pig Scout troop went on a day trip to the beach. Pinkerton was first on the bus and sat in the front row.
- 6 He was first off the bus, first in the water, first out of the water, and first into the picnic basket.
- 7 After lunch the Pig Scouts decided to go for a hike. Off they went, with Pinkerton leading the line, of course. As the Pig Scouts marched across the sand, they heard a faint voice far in the distance.
- 8 The voice called out, "Who would care for a sandwich?" Pinkerton pricked up his pointy ears. Care for a sandwich? Oh yes, me first! he thought, and he began to trot ahead of the others.
- 9 Soon he heard the voice again, closer and louder this time. "WHO WOULD CARE FOR A SANDWICH?"
- 10 "ME FIRST!" cried Pinkerton, kicking up sand and leaving the other Pig Scouts far behind. His imagination almost burst. Peanut butter! Jelly! Two tomatoes! Seven pickles! A slab of cheese! A blob of mayo! A smear of mustard. All for ME! FIRST!
- 11 "WHO WOULD CARE FOR A SANDWICH?"
- 12 Now at a full gallop Pinkerton shrieked, "ME FIRST!" Over a sandy hill he flew and . . . Kerplop. He landed face to face with a small creature with a bump on her nose and fur on her toes.
- 13 "Am I glad to see you!" she cackled. "I sure could hear you coming: 'Me first. ME FIRST! ME FIRST!' I guess you really would care for a sandwich."
- 14 "Oh, yes indeed," replied Pinkerton. He jumped up and down so fast his teeth jiggled.
- 15 "Good!" cackled the small creature.
- 16 Pinkerton waited. One second. Two seconds. Three seconds. "Well?" he asked.
- 17 "Well what?" replied the small creature.
- 18 "The sandwich," begged Pinkerton. "Where's . . . the sandwich?"
- 19 The small creature curtsied.² "You're looking at her." She went on, "I am a Sandwich, and I live in the sand, and you said you would care for a Sandwich, so here I am. Care for me."

²curtsied—bent her knees and bowed

³privilege—special chance

- 30 "Then how about making up something—oh, how about something concerning a pushy pig who always wanted to be first?"
- 31 Pinkerton sighed and began, "Once upon a time there lived a pig who always wanted to be first, until one day he met a wise Sandwich—"
- 32 "Wise and beautiful," cut in the Sandwich.
- 33 "—a wise and beautiful Sandwich who showed him that FIRST was not always BEST."
- 34 "Aha!" cackled the Sandwich. She gave Pinkerton a slow, serious, and meaningful wink. "Have you learned something?"
- 35 "Oh yes, yes, yes," said Pinkerton. "I promise I have."
- 36 "In that case, thanks for the care. Goodbye and good luck." She opened the gate and Pinkerton sped off so fast he didn't even notice the delicious sandwich she held out to him.

- 37 He was just in time to catch the bus. On he scooted—pink, plump, and glad to be last.

Today you will do some research on animals and their natural environments. First, you will read an article about wolves in Yellowstone National Park. Then you will read an article titled "The Missing Lynx." As you read these sources, you will gather information and answer questions about animals and their environments so you can write a response.

Read the article "A Howling Success." Then answer questions 8 through 11.

A Howling Success

by Gerry Bishop

- 1 In Yellowstone National Park, a gray wolf sends its eerie call into the wild. You might say that it's howling for joy.
- 2 When you look at this photo and think about wolves, what words come to mind? Wild? Scary? Awesome?

- 3 Over time, people have had all kinds of feelings about wolves. Some people have admired and even worshipped them. But far too often, people have feared or really hated them.

© Donald M. Jones

WAITING GAME: As some wolves pace nearby, an elk finds safety in an icy stream. Later, the pack gives up the hunt to bed down, while the elk dashes to safety.

- 11 With so many “meals-on-hoofs”² running around, life was good for the wolves. Plenty of food meant they could raise plenty of pups. During their first year in the wilds of Yellowstone, the wolves gave birth to a grand total of nine little ones.
- 12 Meanwhile, scientists captured 17 more adult wolves in Canada and released them into the park. In the spring of 1997, nine different Yellowstone wolf packs had a total of 67 new pups.
- 13 Scientists were going to capture and bring still more wolves to the park. But, with the wolf numbers already growing so quickly, they decided that this was no longer necessary. The plan was working out even better than they had hoped.

TRACKING THE PACKS

- 14 Over the past 13 years, wolves have been thriving in Yellowstone National Park. Today, more than 170 of them are scattered among 11 packs there. Elsewhere in the West, wolves have made an amazing comeback, too.

²“meals-on-hoofs”—a play on words referring to the program Meals On Wheels, that delivers meals to individuals at home who are unable to purchase or prepare their own meals

- (A) watching
 (B) hunting
 (C) doing well
 (D) having fun

- Ⓐ "... scattered among 11 packs ..." (paragraph 14)
- Ⓑ "Elsewhere in the west ..." (paragraph 14)
- Ⓒ "... made an amazing comeback ..." (paragraph 14)
- Ⓓ "... are the animals truly safe ..." (paragraph 15)

9. Part A

What is a main idea of "A Howling Success"?

- Ⓐ Wolves have been missing from Yellowstone for over 70 years.
- Ⓑ Many people feared wolves and wanted them out of the park.
- Ⓒ Wolves helped control the number of elk living in the park.
- Ⓓ Scientists helped increase the number of wolves in Yellowstone.

Part B

Which detail from the article best supports the answer to Part A?

- Ⓐ "They worried that the predators would attack their cows, sheep, horses . . . " (paragraph 4)
- Ⓑ "Then things began to change." (paragraph 5)
- Ⓒ ". . . living wolf-free in Yellowstone for many years." (paragraph 10)
- Ⓓ ". . . captured 17 more adult wolves in Canada and released them into the park." (paragraph 12)

10. Part A

Which section from "A Howling Success" introduces how the scientists helped the wolves feel comfortable in the park?

- (A) THE COMEBACK BEGINS
- (B) CATCH AND RELEASE
- (C) EARLY SUCCESS
- (D) TRACKING THE PACKS

Part B

Which statement from the article supports the answer to Part A?

- Ⓐ Wolves were brought to Yellowstone and put in outdoor pens.
- Ⓑ Wolves released in Yellowstone are doing well.
- Ⓒ A law was passed in 1973 to protect endangered animals.
- Ⓓ Several wolf packs in Yellowstone had puppies.

11. Part A

Read the article “The Missing Lynx” and then answer question 12.

The Missing Lynx

by Kathy Kranking

- 1 Meet the most endangered wild cat in the world—the Iberian (eye-BEER-ee-un) lynx. A hundred years ago, thousands of these lynxes roamed Spain and nearby Portugal—part of the region that makes up Iberia. But by the 1990s, they were missing from almost the entire area. Fewer than 100 remained in the wild.
- 2 There are a number of reasons Iberian lynxes have become so rare. One reason is that some of the land they need has been taken for farming and building. Another is that roads cut through the lynxes’ habitat, so the cats are sometimes hit by cars. Also, people illegally kill them.
- 3 But one of the biggest reasons the lynxes are disappearing has to do with their diet: These cats eat rabbits and little else. Unfortunately, in the last 60 years, rabbits in lynx areas have been almost wiped out by disease and hunting. As the rabbits disappeared, the lynxes have, too. So this is really as much a story about missing rabbits as it is about missing lynxes. To save the lynxes, scientists have to help the rabbits.
- 4 To help the lynxes, scientists came up with a plan to bring back the rabbits. They created “rabbitats.” (The word is a cross between “rabbit” and “habitats.”) In the rabbitats are artificial burrows—tubes that go underground in the way that real rabbits do.
- 5 The scientists put fences around big areas containing the rabbitats. The fences were high enough to keep out rabbit predators such as foxes, mongooses, and boars. But lynxes could easily jump over them. That meant they wouldn’t have to compete with other predators for food.
- 6 Finally, the scientists released more than 1,000 rabbits into the rabbitats. The rabbits had been given shots to protect them from disease. With fewer predators and with ready-made burrows to live in, the rabbits would be able to start breeding right away.

OPERATION: LYNX

- 7 Putting back the rabbits was one part of the puzzle. Putting back the lynxes was another.
- 8 When scientists first saw how endangered the Iberian lynx had become, they took some wild lynxes and brought them to breeding centers. There the animals could mate and have babies in safety. The goal was to have more lynxes to release back into the wild.
- 9 Over the years, the lynxes in the breeding centers multiplied. Finally, it was time to release some of them.

MAKING LYNXES WELCOME

- 10 But before that could happen, scientists needed to work with landowners to stop them from killing lynxes that came onto their properties. The landowners wanted to hunt the rabbits for themselves and didn't want the lynxes to get them first. Now scientists have been able to convince many landowners to allow lynxes to live on their land. The scientists explained to the landowners that lynxes keep other rabbit predators out of their territory. That means there can still be plenty of rabbits for both the lynxes and the hunters. Once many landowners had agreed, the lynxes were released.

HOPE FOR THE FUTURE

- 11 The lynxes have adapted well to their new home and are even having lots of babies. In addition to releasing captive-bred lynxes, scientists also moved some wild lynxes to new areas where there hadn't been any in a long time.
- 12 After all these efforts to rescue the Iberian lynx, there is some good news. In the last 10 years, the lynx population has tripled! Today more than 300 lynx roam free. There is still a long way to go, but the hope is that these special cats are on the road to recovery.

A Once-in-a-Lifetime Experience

- 1 It was my idea to invite Derrick, the new kid in our neighborhood, on our annual father-and-son weekend trip. Derrick had never been camping or fishing.
- 2 "Great idea!" Dad said. "It'll be a once-in-a-lifetime experience for him, one he'll never forget."
- 3 Dad and I didn't realize how true that would turn out to be.
- 4 The car blew a tire on the way to our campsite. Not an impressive start.
- 5 "A minor setback, that's all," Dad said as Derrick and I tumbled out of the car to help.
- 6 It was dark by the time we reached the campsite, got the boat into the water, and set up the tent. There was a stiff, icy breeze blowing off the lake.
- 7 Derrick shivered as he examined the sky. "That isn't snow, is it?"
- 8 "Snow?" I said.
- 9 "It never snows in March!" Dad protested.
- 10 But those big flakes fell fast and heavy, blanketing the ground.
- 11 I burst out laughing. Derrick grinned. But Dad was horrified. He hustled us into the tent so we wouldn't catch pneumonia¹ or something. But first he made sure we didn't track any snow into the tent with us.
- 12 "We need to keep the floor dry," Dad insisted. "There's nothing worse than sleeping in wet sleeping bags."

GO ON ►

- 13 He passed out sandwiches after we settled in. "Minor setback," he assured Derrick. "The snow should be gone tomorrow." Dad reached for the large bottle of cola to pour us each a drink.
- 14 Maybe the cola was warm, or maybe it had been jostled too much, because when Dad opened it, that bottle erupted like Mount Vesuvius. Cola overflowed like lava. Dad dropped the bottle. It rolled across the tent floor spewing its contents, and we ended up perched on our sleeping bags like castaways adrift² in a cola sea.
- 15 Derrick clapped both hands over his mouth. His face turned red, and his cheeks ballooned out as if he were about to explode, too. From behind his hands came the snuffling and snorting of trapped laughter.
- 16 I tried to keep a straight face, out of respect for Dad—not just because he'd insisted that we keep the tent floor dry, but because he'd wanted this trip to be perfect.
- 17 "Minor setback," Dad muttered as we soaked up cola with our towels.
- 18 The next morning dawned bright and beautiful, much to Dad's relief. Derrick stood at the water's edge, admiring the clear still lake, the tree-lined shore, and the cloudless sky.
- 19 "Wait until you catch your first fish, Derrick," Dad said as he got the boat ready. "That's an experience you won't forget." Dad turned to me. "Right, Steve?"
- 20 "Right, Dad," I answered.
- 21 "And wait until you taste some fried, freshly caught fish for breakfast," Dad said. "Right, Steve?"
- 22 "Right, Dad," I said, although I thought Dad was trying a little too hard.
- 23 But Derrick didn't catch his first fish. In fact, none of us felt even a nibble on our lines. This wasn't a minor setback for Dad. This was a major disaster.
- 24 The silence grew. The still air settled hot and heavy.
- 25 I leaned over the side of the boat. "Fishy," I sang into the depths of the lake. "Come on, I know you're down there." It sure beat sitting around in silence. And we weren't catching any fish anyway.

36 "I wonder what will happen next?" Derrick asked, putting another marshmallow on his stick.

37 "Yeah," I said. "I wonder."

38 As for Dad, he smiled a brave smile.
